Press Release

Axxiom Manufacturing Gets SHARP Manufacturer of Schmidt product line receives coveted award in safety.

Houston, TX, October 2008: Axxiom Manufacturing Co., Inc, manufacturer of the Schmidt® line of products, is the latest recipient of the highly coveted SHARP award. OSHA's Safety and Health Achievement Recognition Program (SHARP) honors small employers who operate an exemplary safety and health management system. One of only ten recipients to this date in Texas for 2008, Axxiom exemplifies a worker safety program perfectly in alignment with their high end quality catalog of products. The SHARP award is one is which few companies ever achieve. Of 24,000 nationwide endeavors, Axxiom is one of the 600 elite few titleholders to date.

SHARP was created by OSHA to provide incentives and support to those employers that implement and continuously improve effective safety and health management systems at their worksites. SHARP was designed to help reduce overall workplace injuries and illnesses by encouraging employers to correct safety hazards; to develop, implement and improve effective safety and health programs; and to become more self-motivated and self-regulating in the management of occupational safety and health.

Axxiom Mfg, recognized as an industry leader and one of the most prestigious blasting equipment manufacturers in the world, has now earned membership in one of OSHA's most coveted safety programs as well. Axxiom is constantly driving to set the bar higher. OSHA's SHARP program is such an achievement of exemplary status, it is considered a model for peers to strive to achieve.

"The safety and health of our facility and our workforce is of premiere importance," states John Pirotte, President of Axxiom Manufacturing Co, Inc., "By taking proactive steps toward exemplary safety programs, we ensure our ability to deliver on our promise to our customers." Pirotte adds, "The OSHA SHARP recognition award is a great honor. It validates our commitment to our employees, the high quality of our products and reinforces our pledge to constantly improve our safety and health programs."

Quality counts at Axxiom Mfg., as evidenced by the company's dozens of patents representing engineering ingenuity. Excellence and innovative product design are standard at Axxiom Mfg. and the SHARP award proves their commitment to a quality worker environment, along with the highest in safety and health standards.
